

Stewardess Falls From Plane in Air

By DON MEIKLE

WINDSOR LOCKS, Conn. (AP)—The pretty stewardess was announcing the landing at Bradley Field when a tremendous blast of air roared through the plane.

Heads turned but all that could be seen was the rear door flapping from one hinge. She was gone, swept out into the night.

Two hours later Friday night, the body of Françoise de Moriére, 29, was found in a field 1,500 feet below.

Charles Mack, 36, of Springfield, Mass., had been sitting next to Miss De Moriére on the second leg of Allegheny Airlines flight 928 from Washington to Providence, R.I.

Between Philadelphia and Windsor Locks, site of Bradley Field, the wind began screaming through a gap that opened around the rear door, Mack said.

Miss De Moriére, a native of Paris and a veteran of two years' service with Allegheny, went forward and brought back co-pilot Thomas Hawkins. Together they stuffed pillow cases around the loose door, Mack said.

"The noise stopped," he said. "She sat down again and we chatted. A little while later, she said, 'Excuse me. I have to announce our descent.'"

The terrific blast of air ended Miss De Moriére's announcement. Officials of the Civil Aeronautics Board and the Federal Aviation Agency were to begin investigating the incident today.

The loose outside door had been reported to Bradley Field at about 8 p.m. by pilot Harold Gould, 38, of Alexandria, Va. Two minutes later, Gould radioed back that the door had gone and Miss De Moriére had been "ejected."

After landing the twin-engine plane with all 47 passengers safe and sound, Gould helped state police plot his approach course in an effort to pinpoint the spot where the stewardess had fallen.

A helicopter equipped with searchlights buzzed back and forth over the course, guiding the searchers on the ground.

However, it was Robert Swingle of Farmington, a town several miles west of Hartford, who found the body.

Swingle had gone out to investigate a noise and had found a pillow and other debris from the plane in his yard. He called police.

Swingle then began a closer search of his property and found the body of the stewardess about 100 yards behind his house.

Farmington police said one local resident claimed to have heard a woman's scream at about 8 p.m.

Census Fuss About Loss of Population

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Census Bureau prepared an unofficial work sheet last July predicting a 10.7 per cent population loss for Arkansas from 1960 to 1970, a department spokesman said Thursday.

But knowledge of a letter from Frank Cantrell, executive vice president of the Arkansas Chamber of Commerce to the Census Bureau chief, protesting a privately prepared report saying the state would lose 19.5 per cent of its population by 1980 was disclaimed.

The spokesman said the Bureau has made no predictions for the year 1980, the date used in a privately prepared report that touched off Cantrell's criticism.

The report, prepared by Dean Witter & Co., a New York investment house, quoted the Census Bureau as its source of figures.

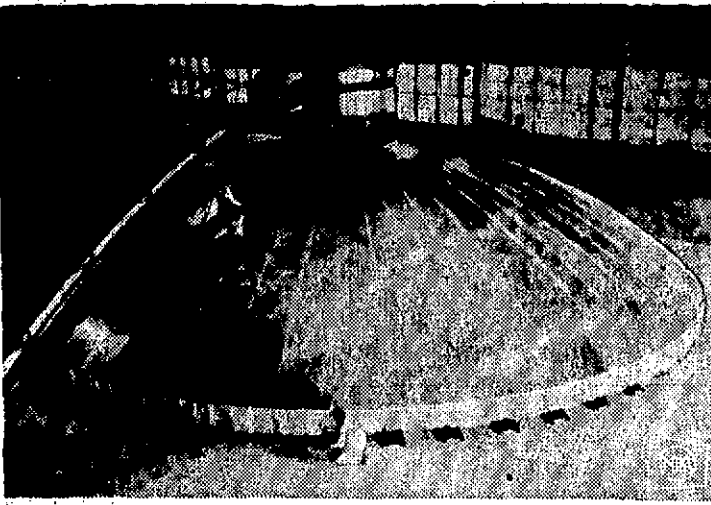

The spokesman said in 1960 the bureau provided several projections to a Senate committee and that one of these could have been made the basis for the Witter report.

The Census Bureau said private statisticians often prepare their own estimates, using bureau figures.

Cantrell asked in his letter that the bureau not allow its name to be used in connection with such reports.

Weather

Total 1962 precipitation through September, 38.13 inches; during the same period a year ago 45.44 inches.

SUN SEEKER—The largest solar concentrator ever built to collect the sun's energy to power space vehicles is shown under construction at Litchfield Park, Ariz. Goodyear Aircraft workers are applying strips of aluminized film to the 45-foot form. The concentrator would be launched folded in a cylinder. In space, compressed gas would deploy it. Then a lightweight plastic foam would be released to flow between the aluminized surface and an outer wall of film. The foam would harden, creating a rigid structure. Ground tests of the concentrator are slated to begin in early 1963.

Publication Honors for Six Schools

NEW YORK (AP)—Student publications at six Arkansas schools were honored for excellence Thursday at the 28th annual awards day ceremonies of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

The awards were part of an annual conference on student publications at Columbia University.

There were five ratings in each category: medalist and first, second, third and fourth place.

The "Old Gold" yearbook of Hot Springs High School was one of several publications winning first place awards in the senior division for schools of 901 to 1,500 students.

Other winners were: Fort Smith Northside High School "Bruin," a first place citation in offset for senior highs of 1,501 to 2,500 students.

The Little Rock Central High School "Pix," a first place in the same category.

The Star City High School yearbook "Rocket," a first place in printed yearbooks for senior high schools of 301 to 600 students.

The "Buildup" yearbook of Springdale High School, a third place citation in offset division for junior and senior high schools of 1,001 or more students.

The Bishop High School "Cuprite," a second place citation in offset yearbooks for senior high schools of 601 to 900 students.

Presidential Plane Goes on Sale Block

WASHINGTON (AP)—For sale: One airplane, slightly used by young President for commuting. A real bargain at $7,375,000.

The Kennedy family plane, "The Carolina," is on the block. Reason: Declining use.

Lately the twin engine Convair 240 has seen little service except on the Hyannis Port run—the family hop between Washington and Cape Cod.

Frederick B. Ayer & Associates of New York, dealers in used aircraft, confirmed Thursday it had been engaged by the Kennedy family to dispose of the Carolina.

Ayer said the plane was built in 1948 and was one of several he acquired from American Airlines in 1958. He said he sold it the next year to the Kennedys after negotiations with Joseph P. Kennedy, the President's father.

The Carolina was converted from a 40 to 44 seat airliner into an executive transport for 22, Ayer said in a telephone interview. It has regular chairs and couches that can be turned into beds for night flights.

"This airplane could not be replaced for the price that is being asked for it," said Ayer.

After Kennedy's nomination, as president, his family—parents, brothers and sisters—turned the plane over to him to campaign in.

But since becoming President, Kennedy has rarely used it. Security officials considered it inadequate as presidential transport.

Dies in Wreck

BENTON, Ark. (AP)—Clyde McKelvey, 45, of Tull, was killed Thursday in an automobile accident on state Highway 35 near Benton. Police said the victim's panel truck failed to negotiate a curve and smashed into a tree. McKelvey operated a doughnut shop in Benton and was on his way home when the accident occurred eight miles south of Benton, police said.

China Begins Heavy Attack Against India

By ALAN M. KENNEDY

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—The Communist Chinese launched heavy attacks on Indian positions on both the east and west Himalayan frontiers today, the Defense Ministry reported.

Earlier, Red China had accused Indian border forces of launching attacks on both ends of the disputed border—the Ladakh area in the west and the northeast frontier about 900 miles to the south-east.

Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon said the Chinese attacks were premeditated and concerted. He said very heavy fighting still continued.

Menon said the Chinese simultaneously attacked all Indian forward posts in the northeast border area at about 5 a.m. He reported they attacked in large numbers after opening fire with heavy mortars and machine guns.

While Menon refused to estimate the numbers, informed sources have spoken of thousands on each side in the area.

Menon said the Chinese had "concentrated very large forces in that area and they are all being thrown into the attack."

At the same time, the Chinese attacked Indian posts in the Chippu River valley of Ladakh and heavy fighting is also going on there, Menon said.

Menon reported Indian supply-dropping planes were attacked by Chinese ground fire on both fronts today but all had returned to base. He added that India had no fighter planes operating on the fronts.

Referring to Peiping's report of Indian attacks in the northeast and in Ladakh the defense minister said: "The report they put out appears to be even prior to their launching their attacks." He said the Chinese report "clearly is to cover their own aggressive moves."

The new (Red) China News Agency said Indian troops with powerful artillery supported launched a large-scale attack in the eastern sector. The Chinese "suffered heavy losses and were compelled to take up resolute defense actions," the agency said.

The scene of the fighting in the eastern sector was placed by the agency as in the "area of the Kechilang River" north of the McMahon line, regarded by India as its northeastern border with Tibet.

Prime Minister Nehru issued an order to India's troops last week to clear the Chinese out of areas in the Indian claims. The Chinese have since charged that India was preparing a massive invasion.

This position is that the Soviet Union intends to make a separate peace treaty with East Germany which would, in its view, give the German Communist regime full sovereignty over Western supply lines to West Berlin.

Kennedy administration leaders say they believe a severe Berlin crisis is in prospect for later this year or possibly early in 1963. This crisis could be brought about by the Soviet Union signing a treaty with East Germany if the East Germans—with Soviet backing—then sought to take full control of the supply lines.

Government scientists have temporarily put aside the ill-fated Thor missile in place of either a Nike-Hercules surface-to-air rocket or a specially constructed vehicle powered by a Sergeant missile motor.

They won't say which one they are planning to use, but by the time the test series ends, the United States will have utilized these two boosters, as well as another Thor.

Throughout the Pacific series Joint Task Force 8 has defended the Thor, attributing repeated malfunctions to "all that junk attached to it."

The test is scheduled to start during a five-hour period beginning at 2:30 a. m. Eastern Standard Time Saturday. This is the same time as last Monday's test when the Thor missile was destroyed eight minutes after launching.

Monday's fizzle, which peppered Johnston Island with radioactive debris, was the fourth failure in five high-altitude attempts this year. The only successful high-altitude shot in the Pacific series came July 8 when a giant blast lit the Pacific from New Zealand to Alaska.

If weather or technical difficulties interfere, the shot will be postponed, probably for 24 hours.

Medical Society Inducts Five

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—The American College of Surgeons inducted five Little Rock physicians Thursday as fellows.

The action was taken at the organization's 48th annual convention.

The doctors are John R. Adametz, a neurosurgeon; Dr. Benjamin W. Drompp, head of the orthopedic department at the University of Arkansas Medical Center; Dr. John Laurens, a proctologist; Dr. Benjamin M. Lincoln and Dr. Carl E. Wenger, surgeons.

The fellowship is awarded to physicians who fulfill comprehensive requirements for acceptable medical education and advanced training as specialists in a branch of surgery. It entitles the recipient "F.A.C.S." following his name.

State Tax Take

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Revenue Commission Ted Donham said Thursday Arkansas received $866,736 as its share of the 100-day dog racing meet at West Memphis. These receipts, he said, excluded a 3 per cent sales tax. This for this year, he said, the state has received a total of $2,272,349 from West Memphis and Hot Springs racing events.

Price of Silver Equals Record

LONDON (AP)—The price of silver reached a record 104 pence — $1.213 — an ounce on the London bullion market today.

With little silver coming on the market, the price of the metal Thursday equaled the previous record price of 103.75 pence an ounce. Continued moderate demand pushed the price up another quarter pence to the record at today's official "fixing."

The slightly increased demand for silver came mainly from home and European consumers but there also was some speculative buying.

Silver consumption usually increases at this time of year and market sources anticipate the price will remain firm for some time to come.

Communists Send Ship a Day to Cuba

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet bloc poured equipment and supplies into Cuba the past month at a rate of more than a shipload a day, U.S. sources said today.

They estimated that about 40 cargo ships—Soviet and chartered non-Communist vessels—arrived at the Caribbean island carrying material to bolster the regime of Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

This compares with about 15 to 18 ships a month in the early phase of the Soviet buildup of the Cuban ally, said the sources. But, according to previous estimates, the sea traffic last month was still well below peak.

The U.S. government reported about a month ago that more than 100 vessels of all kinds were arriving monthly in Cuba ports.

On Sept. 20 American officials said that between 65 and 75 Soviet ships landed cargo there since late July. They said possibly half the ships carried general cargo—including food and industrial equipment—and the rest, military equipment and personnel.

Last week Assistant Secretary of State Edwin M. Martin estimated that over-all aid to Cuba was costing the Soviets more than $1 million a day "above and beyond what they are getting from Cuba."

Soviet military aid to Castro, he said, was running at a rate of $200 million for this year.

The White House said Thursday plans are being worked out for a U.S. quarantine on Cuban shipping but that the details probably won't be ready for announcement this week.

Among other things, these curbs are expected to deny U.S. cargoes to ships and shipping firms involved in carrying supplies to Cuba. The purpose: To make the Cuban buildup as expensive as possible for the Soviet bloc.

Reportedly, the proposed curbs are running into stiff opposition from foreign shippers who figure they would be hit hard by the U.S. penalties.

Although merchantmen continue to stream into Havana and other Cuban ports, the close U.S. surveillance of Cuba's sea lanes has sighted no Soviet navy fighting ships entering or leaving the ports sources report.

Moscow sends warships on formal, show-the-flag visits to foreign ports, including those in some non-Communist countries, but apparently is refraining now from such demonstrations for Cuba.

Ouachita County Clerk Is Named

CAMDEN, Ark. (AP)—W. P. (Bill) Smead, former sheriff of Ouachita County, has been appointed circuit court clerk by Gov. Orval E. Faubus.

Smead, who has served five terms as sheriff, succeeds Mrs. Kate Garner, who was killed in an auto accident Friday. He will serve until Jan. 1.

The Democrat Party has nominated Mrs. Garner's sister, Mrs. Pauline Ables, for the position. Her name will appear on the November ballot unopposed. She is presently serving as a deputy in the clerk's office.

Wet-Dry Election

HAMPTON, Ark. (AP)—An original petition seeking a "wet-dry" election in Calhoun County has been ruled inefficient. Camery Judge R. W. Launius of Camden said his ruling was based on the grounds that the petition did not contain a sufficient number of signatures. The measure would have been on the Nov. 6 ballot. Liquor is now legal in the county.

RAIL TALE—"Straddle Bug" played an important role in building a new 29-mile line from Abba to Skull Valley, Ark. Because no rail line existed to carry the 1,440-foot lengths of welded rail to their exact destination, Santa Fe Railway engineers developed the machine to pull the long rail sections from flat cars at end of track directly into their place on the waiting ties without disturbing them.

With Approach of Old Man Winter Thoughts of Flowers Are Hearty, Masculine Type

By MARY ANITA LASETER

With the approach of Old Man Winter (and he will be a part of our family circle very shortly), even our thoughts of flowers are inclined to be of the hearty, masculine types.

What flowers is most often worn by a man? Why, the familiar "carnation in his buttonhole."

And how many stories and true incidents occur when a man's identity is determined by his wearing such a flower!

The sturdy, but easily manipulated, flower is a native of southern Europe, and occasionally it is found in a wild state in England. As in the case of the orchid, the encyclopedia describes the carnation as being "delightfully fragrant."

"That statement is open for debate, and apparently the writer had never inhaled the scent of a rose, honey suckle, or gardenias. If he had, he could have labeled the carnation as "delightfully fragrant."

The truth of the matter is that carnations haven't much aroma at all, probably that is why the masculine gender likes to wear them. They are decorative without being "sissy." They are graceful without being fragile.

Carnations are a delight for the person using flowers for decoration of anything from a dining table to a wedding chapel. They come in shades of red, pink, and yellow, as well as pure white.

And the white ones are easily dyed any color desired, thereby making possible a variety of color schemes. Sometimes carnations are spotted with a color other than the dominant one, and these two-tone types are also charming.

Whether you are arranging carnations or other cut flowers in a vase, there are four tips for their care provided by the Society of American Florists: (1) as soon as the flowers are cut, place their stem ends in deep warm water. Pour warm water into the container in which they are to be arranged. Cut the stem ends diagonally with a sharp knife.

All foliage below the water level should be removed. (This warm water advice is good, for look at the way vegetation thrives in the warm rains of the tropics.)

Sometimes the cut flowers have a milky substance or juice which should be sealed into the stem by quickly dipping the stem ends one to two inches into boiling water. The upper leaves and flowers should be protected from the steam with thickness of paper.

(3) If the stem ends get soft or decayed, recut the stems to remove that portion. Should any flowers look wilted, recut their stems and place them in very warm water. (If they still look wilted after about an hour, they've "had it" and nothing more can be done.)

(4) Keep flower arrangements away from drafts, direct sunlight, and hot radiators. Also, putting them in a cool, dark place at night will refresh them and prolong their beauty. (This last hint is especially useful in cold weather.)

Allies Plan to Recognize Yemen

LONDON (AP)—The United States and four of its major allies may recognize the revolutionary regime in Yemen within a week, diplomatic sources said today.

These informants reported the United States, Britain, France, Italy and West Germany will act together unless the royalists can show quickly they can restore the monarchy in the little desert nation in the southwest corner of the Arabian Peninsula.

Brig. Abdullah Sallal, the revolutionary premier, is putting pressure on the United States and Britain particularly to extend recognition. The Communist bloc has one do

Russia Calls for Seating of Red China

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union submitted a resolution today calling on the U.N. General Assembly to oust Nationalist China and seat the Chinese Communists.

The proposal was circulated as the 109th annual assembly scheduled for debate Monday afternoon. The United States has predicted Red China will suffer a worse defeat than last year.

The Soviet resolution says "only representatives of the government of the People's Republic of China are competent to occupy China's place in the United Nations and its organs."

It specifically demands that the Chinese Nationalists be replaced in all U.N. organs by new delegations from Red China.

The Soviet Union will lead off the debate Monday.

Randolph Co. Leader Dies

POCAHONTAS, Ark. (AP)—Everett Pringle, Randolph County farmer and political leader, died Thursday night at his home near Pocahontas. He was 65.

Pringle had been a county Democratic central committee man for years and was a member of the board of directors of the Vocational Technical Training School at Pine Bluff.

Survivors include one sister, Mrs. Russell B. Smith of Eau Gallie, Fla. Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

Hurricane Is No Longer U.S. Threat

CAPE HATTERAS, N.C. (AP)—Hurricane Ella, no longer an immediate threat to this Atlantic coastal area, speeded up her forward movement away from land during the night. Gale warnings were ordered displayed today as far north as Cape May, N.J.

Moving northeast at 15 miles an hour, Ella held to a course that would take her into the North Atlantic well out of range of land, but a threat to any ships in her path.

A 5 a.m. Weather Bureau advisory centered the hurricane about 270 miles east-southeast of Cape Hatteras, N.C. Her winds were reported about 100 m.p.h. near her center, with hurricane-force winds (75 m.p.h.) extending outward 50 to 100 miles.

Gales reached out 350 miles to the north and east and 300 miles to the southwest.

The erratic hurricane is expected to move toward the northeast at about 15 m.p.h. for the next 18 to 24 hours, with little change in size or intensity, the Weather Bureau said.

Gale warnings now are displayed from Cape May, N.J., to Cape Lookout, N.C., and tides were predicted to run two to four feet above normal between Cape May and Cape Hatteras, N.C.

Small craft from Block Island, R.I., to Savannah, Ga., and in extreme southern Chesapeake Bay were advised to remain in port.

Man Sought in Shooting of Farmer

MARION, Ark. (AP)—Crittenden County deputies resume their search today for a 28-year-old man wanted in connection with the shooting of R. A. Caldwell, a plantation owner, near Proctor Thursday.

Sheriff Cecil Goodwin said the hunt was called off Thursday night after police learned Arthur W. Baldwin, a truck driver, had been seen in St. Francis County.

"We know who we're looking for," the sheriff said. "We know where he goes, his relatives, and his friends."

The sheriff said Baldwin stayed "just a jump ahead of us" Thursday by hitch-hiking throughout the county. He said Baldwin went to several homes to get help but was advised each time to give himself up.

The search for Baldwin started Thursday after Caldwell, about 38, was found shot in the stomach with what was believed to be a .38 caliber pistol. The gun was not found.

Police said Caldwell and Baldwin, a truck driver on Caldwell's land about 10 miles southwest of West Memphis had an argument and Caldwell was shot. He was taken to Crittenden Memorial Hospital at West Memphis where he was listed in fair condition.

Eight deputies and a private airplane were pressed into the search for Baldwin.

Takes Offense at Magazine

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Another Arkansas magazine comment that the western portion of the state is "improvised, scantily settled land."

He is William L. Spicer, chairman of the Republican party of the state.

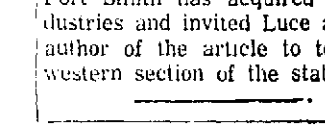

The Paris Chamber of Commerce was the first to answer the article in the Oct. 12 issue on the multi-million dollar Arkansas River development project.

Its members offered the writer of the article a free tour of the country.

Spicer protested directly to Henry R. Luce, editor-in-chief of the publication, whom he had met during World War II. He noted Fort Smith has acquired 209 industries and invited Luce and the author of the article to tour the western section of the state.

3rd Straight Moon Shot Is Failure

By RALPH DIGHTON

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—The United States' third straight attempt to scout the moon by television has failed—possibly because of damage to the Ranger lunar rocket by radiation from recent high altitude nuclear blasts.

The 6-7 pound camera-toting spacecraft, launched Thursday from Cape Canaveral, Fla., ran out of electrical power eight hours and 44 minutes later.

Scientists said this meant it would be unable to correct its course and would miss the moon by 300 miles.

It also meant Ranger would not be able to operate its television camera nor to land a quake-measuring device on the moon's surface.

Aslan's Jet Propulsion Laboratory, which built Ranger and is tracking it through space, said the spacecraft apparently failed to draw electrical power from its wing-like solar panels to operate its instruments.

Its only source of power then was a small reserve battery with a life of eight to nine hours. That battery went dead just as scientists were trying to command the spacecraft to fire a small rocket that would re-align it at the moon.

Cause of the failure of the solar power system was not announced, but there was unofficial speculation by some space experts that the craft's delicate solar cells could have been damaged by radiation from recent high altitude nuclear blasts over the Pacific.

"It's too early to say what went wrong," a laboratory spokesman said. "We may never be sure. All we know at the moment is that the spacecraft failed to get power from its solar panels."

Radiation of the kind emitted in nuclear explosions sometimes is trapped in the dangerous belt of radiation surrounding the earth. Ranger had to get through this belt on its flight toward the moon.

This was the third straight failure in the hard-luck Ranger program to scout the moon electronically for upcoming manned moonships.

Ranger 4 crashed-landed on the back side of the moon last April but failure of a timing device prevented it from sending back television pictures.

Ranger 3 gathered too much speed at launching last January and missed the moon by 22,000 miles. Rangers 1 and 2 were test vehicles not aimed at the moon.

Four previous moon shots, in the Pioneer and Able programs, failed in their missions to rocket a payload to or around the moon.

With each Ranger launch running about $1 million, total cost of the nine failures was estimated to exceed $10 million.

A source at Cape Canaveral said the sixth Ranger spacecraft, scheduled for launching in January, probably would be delayed while the string of failures is studied.

If all had gone well, the Ranger would have taken more than 100 pictures of the moon Sunday morning at a distance ranging from 2,000 miles down to 16 miles.

Without electrical power on board, Ranger 5 cannot eject the capsule. Instead, scientists said, the spacecraft will shoot past the moon and go into an orbit around the sun.

Catholics Continue Vote Count

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Vatican priests continued today the counting of votes for members of the Roman Catholic council's working commissions.

Results in the voting are expected to be announced Saturday when the council convenes in its fourth session.

A French source said counting of votes for the liturgical commission has been completed, and that the 16 positions had been filled.

Pope John XXIII must name an additional eight members to each commission, bringing total membership of each to 24. Liturgy will be the first topic before the council when discussions start next week.

Presumably, if the liturgical commission has been selected, these discussions could start whether or not voting on the other nine commissions is completed.

There had been reports discussions would not start until voting on all commissions had been completed.

It is still not known if additional ballots will be required on some of the commissions. Council rules provide that a majority is needed for election on either of the first two ballots, pluralities thereafter.

Prelates considered traditionalist, or conservative, have asked Pope John to provide for plurality election on the first ballot, now being counted. Such a move could favor Italians, who make up the biggest national group. The Pope has the power to change council rules. His decision may be announced Saturday.

U.S., State Must Reply in McCool Case

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—The federal government and the state of Arkansas were given Thursday 30 days in which to file briefs asserting reasons for prior claims on the estate of Thurman McCool of Pine Bluff.

McCool, operator of printing and business machines businesses at Pine Bluff, was found shot to death in a car near Sheridan last Jan. 9.

The federal government has filed a claim for some $78,000 in withholding and income taxes and interest. The state seeks $92 in unpaid sales taxes. Both claims have been allowed by Chancellor Lawrence at a claims hearing.

Both parties may have to do without partial payment since the estate contains only $38,000, attorney R. A. Elliott said Wednesday. McCool's wife is due $13,000 of that amount under state law and legal and other fees will take another $5,650, Elliott said.

Various creditors have filed claims of over $200,000 more against the estate.

The deadline was given the two governments at a Thursday claims hearing in Pine Bluff. Following the claims session Dawson opened a hearing on a suit by Noel S. Peek of England, seeking to recover about 75 business machines purportedly connected with McCool business which he claims are his. Some of the machines have not yet been located.

The suit was filed against J. B. Herscher, administrator of the estate. The Remington Rand Co. and the A. W. Frederick Co. of Memphis, are intervenors in the suit.

A hearing was held Wednesday to determine which machines were in dispute. Dawson ruled Thursday Peek and Frederick should each get 15 machines. Remington Rand seeks 7.

A delivery slip was introduced Thursday concerning the missing machines. The slip, dated Sept. 29, 1960, bore the name of Lawrence E. Davis, president of Arkansas AM&N College. Davis said in March of this year 20 typewriters were ordered through McCool but were never delivered.

Interference at Ole Miss Is Criticized

TUPELO, Miss. (AP)—University of Mississippi Chancellor J. D. Williams has criticized what he called political interference at the university in connection with the Meredith case.

"Every political government by name has interfered with the university," the educator told an Ole Miss alumni association group here Tuesday night.

It was Williams' first public speech since violence rocked the university campus Sept. 30, after Negro James H. Meredith arrived to enroll.

"The first political interference was from the Circuit Court of Appeals which overruled the District Court's decision that university officials had the right to deny Meredith's application," Williams said.

He said Ole Miss had no rule or policy denying admission to any qualified person but that no qualified Negro had ever applied.

The next political interference, he said, came when the university's Board of Trustees, "attempting to protect university officials, removed the authority to deny or admit Meredith from the hands of school leaders."

This action, Williams said, got ist, or conservative, have asked Pope John to provide for plurality election on the first ballot, now being counted. Permissive Is Key to Proposal 54

AMENDMENT 54-hjt

(Editor's Note: This is the fifth in a series of articles discussing amendments and acts on the Nov. 6 general election ballot.

By JOHN R. STARR
LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The word "permissive" is the key to proposed Amendment 54.

The amendment, if adopted in the Nov. 6 general election, would "permit" use of voting machines in counties which want them.

Even its most enthusiastic sponsors admit the amendment could not pass if it made machines mandatory. Many counties do not want them, many of the smaller ones could not afford them.

But some counties might be willing to pay the price of faster, more accurate election returns and Amendment 54 makes it possible for them to do so.

Only one county—Pulaski—has ever expressed voter approval of voting machines. The county approved use of machines in a 1956 election. But the move was challenged in court and the Supreme Court finally ruled that machines could not be used under existing laws because they provided no system for maintaining a record of how each elector voted.

Amendment 54 does not do away with the system of numbered ballots, but it authorizes the General Assembly to set up regulations under which voting machines could be used.

Presumably the General Assembly would require that a majority of voters first express a preference for machine voting.

The American Association of University Women and the League of Women Voters were prime movers in a petition campaign which put Amendment 54 on the ballot.

Petitions had to be circulated because the voting machine amendment was the fourth approval for a vote by the 1961 Legislature. The attorney general ruled that the legislature could refer only three amendments and the fourth was struck.

The amendment has the endorsement of the state Chamber of Commerce and several other powerful organizations. There is no organized opposition, although it is being quietly opposed by political leaders in some counties.

DOROTHY DIX

Advice to A Beginning Writer

Dear Helen: Ever since my son was a small boy he's wanted to be a writer. But, having a wife and child to support, he's kept his nose to the grindstone and, as a result, earns a credible living at a daytime job he hates. Evenings he does what he wants — pours out his thoughts on paper. Last night he produced a fine essay on peace but, like everything he writes, into the wastebasket it went. When I protested he remarked bitterly that a trash basket was the only place for such stuff.

It wrings my heart to see him unhappy. His father left me a little extra money which I've kept in a savings bank for some emergency. Would you advise my giving it to the boy as a backlog so that he might devote full time to writing, or is that too great a risk? His one handicap is his spelling. However, if he has the ideas, maybe that wouldn't matter so much. If he could sell some of the things he consigns to the waste basket, he might be more encouraged to take the chance. How does a beginner in writing get started? —Anxious Mother

Dear Anxious: If your son has been writing since childhood, then printer's ink is in his blood and he'll keep on scribbling, come hell or high water, the rest of his life. But this doesn't necessarily mean he can earn his living by his pen. Least of all as an essayist, unless he is a reader, really has something to say and is already well-known. If he had a message he would get it across willy-nilly, even if he had to take to the soapbox to do it. In that case, he's more likely to be a budding politician or statesman, depending upon the quality of his ideas. A course in public speaking and membership in the local political club of his party would help launch him on such a career.

If it is writing for sheer love of the craft which obsesses him, then the answer is: Write and tear up night after night until it becomes easy for him to express himself with lucidity and originality on paper. A course in writing would clarify his thinking, improve his spelling, and teach him what not to do. Almost every college has such a course. The professors, after reading his material, could suggest likely markets. A few beginning writers land a knock-out in the first round but they are the exceptions. Tell your son to hang on to his job until he's not only got a foot in the door of an editor's office but has been asked in. Limit your investment to the public speaking or writing course. Don't be too disappointed if neither pans out. The road is long and the way hard.

Dear Helen: My girl friend has a cruel stepmother, just like those in fairy tales. The other day this woman whipped my friend right before me. I was so ashamed for all of us. It was degrading, now her stepmother, forbids her to come to my house. We're a happy family, enjoy company and get the most out of life. Not so with my girl friend and her family. Her father is bossed by the stepmother too. It's terrible. Please tell me how to help my friend. The other day in school she told me she intended to run away. —Hopeless friend

Dear Hopeless: Worthy though your motives are, be wise. Steer clear of other people's rows. If the going gets too rough, your girl friend could either appeal to her minister, the family doctor, or local Children's Aid Society. A talk with her counselor at school might also be helpful.

Memo to Sad and Broken Hearted: Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet, "The Way to a Boy's Heart."

Send your problem to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and address her care of this newspaper. Helpful leaflets available.

THE ARTLESS HEIRESS

By Clarence Budington Kelland

THE STORY: Enchanted in the motel which she inherited, Columbine Druggel discovers that she has gotten the wrong luggage by mistake. In her bag are a number of unusual items including a gun and a bag full of gems.

In the morning The Grove of Daphne seemed even more alarmingly enormous than it had in the glimpses she had caught of it at midnight. But her apprehension was ameliorated by the realization that all this was hers. The swimming pool was hers, the palms and the lawn; the enclosing cottages so cleanly painted and inviting all were hers.

Perforce she had to put on the dress in which she had traveled all the way from New York. Recollection that her own suitcase was missing came to her with a shock as she remembered the changing suitcase that was in her possession and its strange contents. There must have been two identical pieces of airplane baggage when she alighted from the train. This was not impossible as there must be thousands of those yellow cases with the red stripes. Either she had taken the wrong one or someone preceding her had taken hers and left his own behind.

But the contents of this bag at her feet marked its owner as a person of abnormal habits and character — possibly unpleasant habits and character. It might be most undesirable if its owner came to know that she Columbine Pepper Druggel had the case in her possession and had examined its contents. She placed it in a corner of her closet and covered it with a spare blanket that she found on the shelf.

Then having bathed and dressed as best she could she went differently down the stairs to the lobby.

"Good morning Mr. Simpkins," she said.

The young man startled by her sudden appearance stammered a good morning and stared at her. "Breakfast?" she said sharply.

"The dining room," he answered, "does not open until 7:30."

"The dining room?" she said "is undoubtedly for guests. The employees must eat earlier?"

"Yes Miss Druggel, yes."

"I" she informed him "am in effect an employee."

Somewhat dubiously he led her to the employees' dining room where Barbara Green sat over coffee and eggs and toast. Columbine went to her table and seated herself with a curt good morning.

"Good morning Miss Druggel," answered the hostess. "Why did you not have breakfast served in your room?"

"I am not," she said "accustomed to pampering myself."

A face above a white coat appeared in the door and Miss Green addressed it. "Curt will you see what Miss Druggel wants?"

"One does not, apparently, conduct a hotel the same way one operates a school for girls."

"That," asked Barbara, "has been your experience?"

"Exclusively," Columbine said. "I have helped to educate 10,000 female brats to be snobs; I have subsisted among the most elite disgusting glimpses of parents belonging to the first families. But, Miss Green, I never have known a human being."

Barbara leaned across the table and ventured a question. "How old are you, Miss Druggel?"

"Twenty-one," responded Columbine "and don't tell me I look 35. Because I know it."

"If you know it," asked Barbara, "why do you keep on looking 35?"

"Because," said Columbine tartly, "I am undoubtedly what Marianne Quincy, aged 10, would call a droopy drip. And until my father left me this hotel, I was resigned to making a career of it."

"Well," Barbara said, surveying Columbine critically, "if I may say so without losing my job which I need — you should quit looking like something the cat dragged in."

"It matters what I look like?"

Columbine asked.

"It does," Barbara said. "You're in the midst of life, where a trump has no more chance than a Pekingese in a dog fight. Have you any clothes that don't look like a uniform in a house of correction?"

"Miss Green," said Columbine, remembering suddenly the piece of baggage hidden in her closet, "I have no clothes at all."

"Then," Barbara said, "we can start from scratch. Um . . . In my capacity as hostess I'm having a style show this afternoon at the pool, with some snazzy models. We'll hold everything until you take a look." She narrowed her eyes. "I wonder what you really look like?" she said musily.

Columbine found that she had a comfortable office back of the lounge and connected with the desk. Its furniture was businesslike.

Simpkins thrust his head through the door separating her office from the desk. "Mr. Jones is here to see you," he said.

"Let him come in," Columbine said, and in a moment the young lawyer came through her door and stood looking down at her in a not too friendly manner.

"I have brought the auditor's report, which came this morning," he told her.

He handed her the report — several legal-sized sheets neatly stapled. She frowned at it through steel-rimmed spectacles, picked it up and stared at columns of figures meaningless to her.

"What," she asked, "do I do with this?"

"You read it," he told her "and digest it and draw conclusions from it."

Here was dismal and unexplicated territory, but she was reluctant to display her ignorance to this disagreeable young man. "Have you drawn conclusions from it?"

"Unfortunately."

"Very well, then," she said in her most schoolmistressly manner. "State succinctly those conclusions."

"In a nutshell," he replied, "your gross remains about the same as in preceding months, but your net has diminished alarmingly."

"Why?" Columbine demanded.

"Your father," he said, "was an astute businessman. Since his death, management has been less efficient."

"You," she accused, "have been management."

"We," he retorted, "are lawyers, not hotel men. The actual operation of this hotel was necessarily carried on by your father's staff. My father, who was a farmer, used to say that the best fertilizer a man could put on his land was the foot of the owner."

Columbine pondered this and nodded her head to signify that she understood. "When," she said, "the cat's away the mice will play."

"Right," he said tersely.

"I have," Columbine said, "developed an intuition which informs me when little girls are up to mischief. If you think the artfulness of a 10-year-old girl can be equaled by any adult, then —"

"Then what?" he asked with quizzically raised brows.

"Then you're a droopy drip."

She removed her steel-rimmed spectacles to wipe them and peered at him in a nearsighted manner. Her eyes were thus exposed only for seconds, but there was an impact. The time of her exposure was so brief that Sam Jones could not be certain that saw what he seemed to see.

Two Girls Killed Instantly in Wreck

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Two seventh grade girls were killed instantly Thursday night when the bicycle they were riding together was struck from behind by a car.

State Trooper Glen Minton identified the youths as Veronica Beavers, 12, of Route 5, Hot Springs, and Martha Imogene Gray, also 12, of the Percy community. Both were students at the Blake Hamilton elementary school.

Minton said the girls were riding east on Highway 70 about four miles west of Hot Springs when their bike was struck by a car driven by William T. Norman, 21, of Mabelvale.

Minton said Norman went into shock after the accident but later recovered enough to say he did not see the bicycle.

Coroner D. C. Lee said the two girls died instantly.

Prosecuting Attorney David Whittington said Norman was placed in the Garland County jail, on a charge of involuntary manslaughter and his bond set at $2,500. A hearing has been set for October 8 he said.

Originally, Crawford county contained a large part of the present state of Oklahoma.

Panthers Hold Bobcats to Scoreless Tie

By VINCE FOSTER

The Hope Bobcats and the Magnolia Panthers fought to a scoreless tie Friday night at Mulder Stadium. Roy Wray crossed the goal line on a 58 yard pass play from QB Gary Mayfield via David Porterfield in the final seconds of the game but this was called back by a penalty.

In the first quarter the Bobcats opening drive was stopped at the Magnolia 37 by a Hope fumble. The second drive was stopped at the 47 as Allwhite snatched the ball from Bobcat Roy Wray to end that drive. However, the big Hope threat came late in that quarter behind Mayfield's passing and McDowell's 18 yard scamper. With 12 seconds left in the half, the Cats fumbled at the Magnolia 8.

After the kickoff Magnolia drove to the Hope eight, but Ricky Butler came up with a Panther fumble there to end that drive. Midway in the fourth quarter Tony Purtle stopped another Panther drive at the Hope 12 with another fumble recovery. With 45 seconds left in the game, Gary Mayfield carried for 9, and then he passed behind beautiful protection to Porterfield at the Magnolia 35. However, Porterfield tipped the ball up, and Roy Wray caught it and ran the remaining yardage, but a illegal procedure penalty called this touchdown back.

Porterfield and McDowell shared Hope's rushing honors with 54 yards each. Wray carried for 37, Burnett 12 and Mayfield netted nine. Standouts for the locals were Guard Tony Purtle, Center Dan Jones, Linebacker Charles Beggs and Fullback Richard McDowell.

Next Friday the Bobcats meet the district leaders, Camden, at Dad's night in Hammons Stadium.

Defends U.S. in Question Session

By GENE KRAMER

RADOM, Poland (AP) — American Ambassador John Moors Cabot vigorously defended U.S. policies on Germany, Cuba and race relations at a spirited and unique question-and-answer session Wednesday night with 400 Poles.

During the two-hour give-and-take meeting, Cabot stated views seldom expressed publicly in Communist-ruled Eastern Europe. It is believed one of the few times any American ambassador has been able to speak to and answer questions face-to-face with ordinary citizens behind the Iron Curtain.

Cabot was invited to Radom, a manufacturing city of 135,000, about 70 miles south of Warsaw, by the local Communist party paper and a discussion club, the local branch of a nationwide society that aims to inform the masses.

He was the first Western diplomat to appear at a meeting of the club after a long series of speakers from the Soviet Union and other Communist countries. The local papers publicized his appearance in advance and street posters said he would tell all about the United States.

The cordial session ended with 20 seconds of applause for Cabot from 400 attentive Poles who overflowed the small meeting hall.

Asked to justify U.S. policy toward Cuba on the basis of self-determination, the tall, 6-year-old Bostonian ambassador in effect accused the Fidel Castro regime of lying.

"Let me point out that since the present regime came to power in Cuba there has been nothing resembling an election. Let alone a fair election," despite promises, Cabot said.

"The head of the present Cuban regime," he continued, "publicly stated he deliberately deceived the Cuban people because if he had not, they would not have accepted him. All we in the United States want today is for the Cuban people to decide freely without interference from us — or any one else — what government they want to have."

every hour

...should be everybody's theme song. Time is a graph or chart which measures what we are. We have no time to kill. "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might," Eccles. 9:10. Constantly strive to be a better father, mother, husband, wife, son, daughter... a better church member. There is always a friend or neighbor less fortunate than you. "He that knoweth to do good and doeth it not, to him it is sin. James 4:17. If you have had a kindness shown, pass it on; 'twas not meant for you alone... pass it on.

ABOVE ALL, "every hour" is God's gift. Wasting time is wasting God's Bounty. Keep on killing time and time will kill you. "Every man must give an account of himself to God," Romans 14:12. Spend your spare time at home, at Church or on errands of mercy... "I Need Thee Every Hour."

So They May See -- Psalms 127 and 128 -- So They May Hear

EXCEPT THE LORD build the house, they labour in vain that build it: except the Lord keep the city, the watchman waketh but in vain.

2. It is vain for you to rise up early, to sit up late, to eat the bread of sorrows: for so he giveth his beloved sleep.

3. Lo, children are an heritage of the Lord: and the fruit of the womb is his reward.

4. As arrows are in the hand of a mighty man; so are children of the youth.

5. Happy is the man that hath his quiver full of them: they shall not be ashamed, but they shall speak with the enemies in the gate,

BLESSED IS EVERY ONE that feareth the Lord; that walketh in his ways.

2. For thou shalt eat the labour of thine hands: happy shalt thou be, and it shall be well with thee.

3. Thy wife shall be as a fruitful vine by the sides of thine house: thy children like olive plants round about thy table.

4. Behold, that thus shall the man be blessed that feareth the Lord.

5. The Lord shall bless thee out of Zion: and thou shalt see the good of Jerusalem all the days of thy life.

6. Yea, thou shalt see thy children's children, and peace upon Israel.
